

---

CLAIMS:

---

I Claim:

1. (Cancelled);

2. (New);

(a) A system of playing a game for recreation and for betting for monetary gain, consisting of supplying a playing area which includes the following; a table that is six feet long, three feet six inches wide, the table has four legs, the back is straight, the front is cut on a radius to allow six people to set in front of a dealer that stands at the back flat side, the top has a three-quarter inch wide line that divides the table space into six equal sections for each player to play at, in each six sections there is a three and a half inch diameter yellow circle that says the word bet in the center, in each six sections there is a descending line of white circles one and three-quarter inches in diameter spaced one inch apart, the first white circle will have a red diamond in the middle, the second white circle will have a red heart in the middle, the third white circle will have a black spade in the middle, the fourth white circle will have a black club in the middle, the four white circles are there for a pictorial reference of value assigned, the top white circle with the red diamond is the highest value suite, the second white circle down is the circle with the red heart in it and it has the second highest value suite, the third white circle down is the circle with the black spade in it and it has the third highest value suite, the fourth white circle down is the circle with the black club in it and it has the least value suite, in each six sections there is a one inch by three inch yellow box with the following instructions, diamonds beat hearts, spades and clubs; hearts beat spades and clubs; spades beat clubs; same suite, high card wins, in each six sections, there is a copyright notification in a one-half inch by three and a half inch yellow box that says, red diamond, copyright 2000 Russell R. Kalis, there is a three and a half inch by five inch ace of diamond card in the center of the table, above it a one and a quarter inch by five and a quarter inch yellow box with the words red diamond, owner Russell R. Kalis, below it is a one inch wide by seven inch long yellow square with the statement, red diamond bonus pays three to one, player has ace of diamonds dealer has a diamond, there are two yellow boxes one and a half inches by nineteen inches with the words diamonds are everybody's best friend, one on the upper right side, one on the upper left side,

(b) supplying a deck of playing cards, said deck having fifty two cards consisting of one ace of diamonds, one ace of hearts, one ace of spades, one ace of clubs, one king of diamonds, one king of hearts, one king of spades, one king of clubs, one queen of diamonds, one queen of hearts, one queen of spades, one queen of clubs, one jack of diamonds, one jack of hearts, one jack of spades, one jack of clubs, one ten of diamonds, one ten of hearts, one ten of spades, one ten of clubs, one nine of diamonds, one nine of hearts, one nine of spades, one nine of clubs, one eight of diamonds, one eight of hearts, one eight of spades, one eight of clubs, one seven of diamonds, one seven of hearts, one seven of spades, one seven of clubs, one six of diamonds, one six of hearts, one six of spades, one six of clubs, one five of diamonds, one five of hearts, one five of spades, one five of clubs, one four of diamonds, one four of hearts, one four of spades, one four of clubs, one three of diamonds, one three of hearts, one three of spades, one three of clubs, one two of diamonds, one two of hearts, one two of spades, one two of clubs,

3. (New) The system according to claim 2, further including:

In step (a), said playing area being disposed on a cardboard board, a paper surface, a playing cloth, a casino gaming table, a cassette tape, a compact disk, a slot machine, a computer monitor, a lottery scratch ticket, a video game, a play station, a on-line gambling website,

4. (New) The system according to claim 2, further including:

In step (a) a dealer shuffling the said deck of cards, the player or players up to the maximum of six, place a conventional bet upon the three and one quarter inch diameter yellow circle with green letters in it that say the word bet that is located in their divided playing section, the dealer dealing one card face up to each player, starting from the dealers left to right, the dealer then deals one card face up to the dealer, the dealer judges for winning or losing hands according to the value scale assigned to the suites of the cards, being all the cards in the diamond suite beat all the cards of the heart suite, spade suite and club suite, being all cards in the heart suite beat all the cards in the spade suite and the club suite, being all the cards in the spade suite beat all the cards in the club suite, in the event of the same suite being on both the player card and the dealer card, the ace will win over the king, queen, jack, ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, the king will win over the queen, jack, ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, the queen will win over the jack, ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, the jack will win over the ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, the ten will win over the nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three two, the nine will win over the eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, the eight will win over the seven, six, five, four, three, two, the seven will win over the six, five, four, three, two, the six will win over the five, four, three, two, the five will win over the four, three, two, the four will win over the three, two, the three will win over the two, the two of a same suite deal cannot ever win, if the player has the winning hand he will be paid an amount equal to the bet he placed in the three and a quarter inch diameter yellow circle with green letters in it that says bet, in the event the player wins the hand by having the ace of diamonds and the dealer has any other diamond suited card, the player will receive a payment of three times the bet he placed in the three and a quarter inch diameter yellow circle with green letters that say the word bet.